Dr. John Chen is a recognized authority in both Chinese Herbal Medicine and western pharmacology, having combined formal training in both fields with extensive research "on the ground" in China. He has written extensively on Oriental Medicine and alternative complementary/integrative medicine for professional publications, journals and texts. A visiting professor at the University of Southern California School of Pharmacy and numerous colleges/universities of traditional Chinese medicine, Dr. Chen is also a member of the Herbal Medicine Committee for the American Association of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine (AAAOM), an herbal consultant for the California State Oriental Medicine Association (CSOMA) and an editorial board member for the peer-reviewed journal of the American Academy of Medical Acupuncture (AAMA). Dr. Chen's published works include Chinese Medical Herbology and Pharmacology (2003 AOM Press) and Chinese Herbal Formulas and Applications (2008 AOM Press) for which he is the lead author.

Top 50 Drugs and Their Herbal Alternatives

The practice of medicine is now at a crossroad: there are countless patients taking prescription drugs who wish to be treated with a more natural approach. In this class, Dr. John Chen discusses the 50 most commonly prescribed medications, their actions, side effects, and herbal alternatives. You will learn how to co-manage patients using herbs as an alternative to commonly prescribed drugs. You are also given proper protocols for the time frames and herbal dosages leading to the safe reduction of pharmaceutical usage.

Recognition & Prevention of Herb-Drug Interactions/ Herbal Alternatives to Drugs: Pain Management:

Increasingly patients are seeking integration between Western and Oriental Medicine. This course enables you to recognize and prevent potential herb-drug interactions.

In this class, Dr. John Chen shares with you the most commonly seen herb-drug interactions and drug-herb interactions so that when you are prescribing herbal formulas to patients, you are aware of possible interactions with the medications they are taking. In addition, he also discusses the safe and defense practice guidelines to minimize side-effects, adverse reactions, and herb-drug interactions.

Lotus CEU Seminar Comments

"Dr. Chen is making an important contribution to our profession by increasing the practitioner's awareness, regarding the latest research on drug-herb interactions. I thought it was very effective to present the negative perceptions of Chinese herbs held by MDs & the public by giving examples from published articles in Lancet etc. This presentation is invaluable in helping us become competent and well educated practitioners in today's healthcare system."
